MylesNowhere else has such a wealth of historical material on the Washington DC area Girl Scout council been compiled in one place. The author supplements this treasure trove of photos and memorabilia with informative and lively supporting comment. A must read for DC Area Girl Scouts and volunteers.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Council of the Nation's Capital for 10 years. Many of the events in the book, I can remember. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Local and national History of Girl Scouting By Customer I am familiar with the author of this book and of the history of Girl Scouting. This was an ideal book for my own interest in Girl Scouting!

Girl Scouting came to Washington, DC, in June 1913 when Juliette Gordon Low decided her new girls empowerment movement needed a national headquarters. Although the headquarters moved to New York City in 1916, the council in Washington, DC, is still actively involved in the programs. Girl Scouts of the Nations Capital chronicles the evolution of Girl Scouting in the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia from 1913 to the present. It includes photographs from the Little House, where first ladies dropped by for housekeeping demonstrations, and the teahouses, where presidents enjoyed fresh beverages and cakes graciously served by Girl Scouts. Some 200 photographs will rekindle memories of making new friends, earning badges, spending summer nights at Camp May Flather, taking road trips to Rockwood, attending freezing inaugural parades, hiking along the Chesapeake Ohio Canal, and participating in enormous sing-alongs around the Washington Monument.

About the Author The images used in this book come from the Nations Capital Archives as well as from leaders personal collections. Ann E. Robertson has been involved in Girl Scouting since she joined Brownies in 1973 and earned her Gold Award in 1983. Currently, she chairs the Archives and History Committee of the Girl Scout Council of the Nations Capital.
