

[Read free ebook] Horror Readers' Advisory: The Librarian's Guide to Vampires, Killer Tomatoes, and Haunted Houses (ALA Readers' Advisory)

Horror Readers' Advisory: The Librarian's Guide to Vampires, Killer Tomatoes, and Haunted Houses (ALA Readers' Advisory)

Becky Siegel Spratford, Tammy Hennigh Clausen
DOC | *audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF | ePub

Download

Read Online

#3250930 in Books American Library Association 2004-01-01Original language:EnglishPDF # 1 9.02 x .41 x 5.98l, .56 #File Name: 0838908713176 pages | File size: 75.Mb

Becky Siegel Spratford, Tammy Hennigh Clausen : Horror Readers' Advisory: The Librarian's Guide to Vampires, Killer Tomatoes, and Haunted Houses (ALA Readers' Advisory) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Horror Readers' Advisory: The Librarian's Guide to Vampires, Killer Tomatoes, and Haunted Houses (ALA Readers' Advisory):

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. niceBy none for you had to read this for class , loved it , have since let other read this and they had same reaction0 of 6 people found the following review helpful. I'll donate it to the libraryBy I ReviewThis is a librarians reference to books of horror. I didn't get much out of it personally. As long as you know what you are getting into when you purchase it, you will be ok.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. A Good Horror ResourceBy zombie phreakThis is a pretty good source for finding some good horror books to read. Sure it's meant for librarians to help their patrons find good books and how to build a good horror selection and how to market it to their patrons but any horror fan will admit that this is a good resource to find scary stories to read.It's got some good recommendations in it and it's worth checking out from your local library if they have a copy.

It's a dark and scary world. Pans are tabid. Blood, guts, and gore are the norm. Welcome to the horror genre. Horror classics have been scaring people for years. Nowadays, who doesn't know about Stephen King, Anne Rice, and Dean Koontz? Profiled in a special section, the Big Three have turned horror into best-sellers. For all the horror fans that haunt your library, this is the must-have guide. Readers' advisors and reference librarians will appreciate the key tools provided to expand upon this genre, including listings of top books, authors, and award winners within eleven horror subgenres - like mummies, biomedical, monsters, and splatterpunk. Clear descriptions of characteristics within subgenres are provided throughout. To further help you engage new renders, expert horror mavens Spratford and Clausen draw a savvy connection between film and horror as a potent reminder that the scariest movies have been adapted from novels. Their classic and contemporary recommendations like Rebecca, The Shining, and Rosemary's Baby reinforce activities between readers' advisors and library programming and open up the (cellar) door for further patron involvement. Readers' advisors and referen

From School Library JournalSpratford and Clausen offer up an easy-to-use introduction for fielding requests from teens for horror books. They provide a chapter on the readers' advisory questions specific to the genre and provide nicely annotated lists of a wide variety of options. Librarians will find this book invaluable when helping patrons outside their own personal reading interests, and it will offer some new titles for those who believe that they've read it all. The books suggested all fall into the high school/adult category, but there are no age ranges given within individual annotations. Helpful chapters on marketing your horror collection are included as are resources that librarians can consult to find even more suggestions and awards in the genre. A ready-reference tool that's sure to get a lot of use.Lynn Evarts, Sauk Prairie High School, Prairie du Sac, WI Copyright Reed Business Information, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.About the AuthorBecky Siegel Spratford is the reference librarian and serves as readers' advisory librarian at the Berwyn Public Library in suburban Chicago. In 2000, she co-created the Readers' Advisory Department and now directs staff, provides advisory assistance to patrons, and selects all fiction. She received her MLIS with honors from Dominican University. She also served as reference assistant in the library of the law firm Sonnenschein Nath Rosenthal. She has been elected as her local library trustee and was inducted into Beta Phi Mu, the international library and information science honor society.Tammy Hennigh Clausen manages the readers' advisory department at the Berwyn Public Library where she offers dynamic, service-oriented reading suggestions and referrals. Her MLIS is from Dominican University. She has worked in public libraries for more than ten years, including serving as the young adult services librarian at the Cicero Public Library.