Vaira Vikis-Freibergs : Linguistics and Poetics of Latvian Folksongs (McGill-Queen's Studies in the History of Religion, Series Two) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Linguistics and Poetics of Latvian Folksongs (McGill-Queen's Studies in the History of Religion, Series Two):

Created in honour of the sesquicentennial of the birth of Kristian Barons, the original compiler, classifier, and publisher of close to 182,000 Latvian folk song texts, Linguistics and Poetics of Latvian Folksongs provides an overview of recent research on the dainas and will be of interest to students of comparative literature and semioticians, as well as to specialists in oral literature.
